OPEN WORKSHOP, 2nd June 2015 in Wuppertal, Germany

The first open workshop of the SAMT project will discuss the methods and tools for sustainability assessment and the challenges related to applying them in practice. The workshop will provide an update on available methods and tools, present practical examples from different industrial sectors and offer a forum for discussion and networking.

The workshop is open to all industrial actors and stakeholders (authorities, peer organizations, researchers, NGO's, etc.) applying sustainability assessment methods and interested in developing the assessment practice.

Preliminary agenda for the workshop and additional information can be found in the attachment.
