On the 9th of November 2015 the European Commission is organising the workshop "Preparing the transition: research and innovation for post-2030 decarbonisation pathways".

The workshop will be held at Berlaymont Building, Rue de la Loi 200, 1049 Brussels.

The objective of the workshop is to communicate to and discuss with the relevant scientific community and the broader stakeholder community the plans for a pan-European scientific initiative regarding post-2030 decarbonisation pathways and scenarios, based on a co-design principle, through appropriate engagement of all relevant stakeholders such as public authorities, businesses, industry, civil society.
